June 12, 2026

*All price's mentioned in report are based on previous day closing bases.

NIFTY – 23,161.60 (Daily Chart)

• In Thursday's trading session, the Nifty witnessed yet another seesaw session. The index opened on a negative note, but the bulls soon took control and gradually pushed the index higher. However, in the second half of the session, the bears regained dominance and erased all the gains, resulting in a negative close.

• On a daily scale, the index has formed an Inverted Hammer candlestick pattern, which is considered a bullish reversal signal. The index managed to sustain above the recent low of 23,070, which is a positive sign for the bulls. However, it continues to trade below the 20 DEMA level, indicating that the broader trend remains weak. A decisive and sustained breakout above 23,525 will be crucial for the bulls to regain momentum.

• For Friday's trading session, 23,130 will act as the initial support level, while on the higher end, 23,330 will act as the initial resistance level.

BANK NIFTY – 55,176.75 (Daily Chart)

• In Thursday's trading session, the banking index opened on a negative note but soon gained bullish momentum, helping it recover all of its losses. However, in the second half of the session, the index slipped from higher levels, giving up a portion of its gains, but still managed to close on a positive note.

• On a daily scale, the index managed to hold the support of the 20 DEMA level and closed above the 50 DEMA level, which is a positive sign for the bulls. The index also continues to trade above the support of the falling trendline, indicating that the broader recovery remains intact. To continue with its bullish momentum, the index needs to breach and sustain above the crucial resistance level of 55,600.

• For Friday's trading session, 55,030 will act as the initial support level, while on the higher end, 55,405 will act as the initial resistance level.

- India will remain the world's fastest-growing major economy. Growth is projected to slow to 6.6 percent in fiscal year 2026-27. This moderation is due to higher energy prices and input costs. However, the economy is expected to rebound to 7.2 percent growth in fiscal 2027-28. Domestic demand remains robust, supporting economic activity.
- India's robust economic expansion is shielding state finances from worsening. Despite ongoing spending needs and revenue gaps, strong growth is boosting revenues. This expansion is expected to keep credit risks manageable. State governments are crucial for development, handling significant public expenditure.
- India and the UAE are boosting energy security. Plans are underway to significantly expand India's strategic oil reserves with UAE-linked crude storage. New facilities will increase capacity from 5.8 million barrels to 30 million barrels. Both nations are also establishing a framework for strategic gas reserves. This initiative aims to provide greater flexibility and ensure stable energy supplies for India.
